Reasons for comment:

Comments: 24/11/2023 10:36 AM Absolutely do not need alcohol sales before 8am. Even that is too early. It only encourages antisocial behaviour.

Reasons for comment:

Comments: 24/11/2023 12:35 PM I object to the extension of the licence for a number of reasons.

Selling alcohol so early in the morning would in my opinion encourage crime and disorder which would in turn impact public safety.

There are a number of shops selling alcohol on Askew Road.

The public nuisance created by the selling of alcohol at 6am in the morning is increased.

And buying alcohol so early in the morning would only really be for those determined to drink It's not like popping out for a pint of milk.

Reasons for comment:

Comments: 24/11/2023 3:09 PM The area is already suffering from a surge in drug dealing and drug consumption. Our residents association with over 40 members has already made numerous complaints. If at all, then the sale of alcohol should be more restrictive - certainly not deregulated even further.

Comments: 24/11/2023 9:24 AM Is 8am not early enough for alcohol sales? Who really needs to buy booze at 6.30am Monday to Sunday other than those who are struggling with alcohol problems?
By agreeing to ridiculously early hours for sales, you are not only contributing to the all the problems in the area that are related to alcoholism - the rough sleepers, the vandals, the bad behaviour on the streets etc etc - but you are hurting those who are suffering with alcohol issues. Frankly, I don't believe alcohol should be sold before 10am at the earliest, but to give stores the go-ahead to sell at 6.30am would be completely irresponsible. The licensing department for the council and the borough should be protecting our interests, not pandering to stores who do not seem to know any better
